

THE GEORGIA JOHNSON BAND

Hospitality Rider

Thank you for booking The Georgia Johnson Band!

We're excited to be part of your event and are committed to providing a fun, energetic, and professional performance. The requests below aren't demands—they simply help us perform at our best and ensure the day runs as smoothly as possible for everyone involved.

Refreshments

We greatly appreciate access to:

- Bottled water
- Assorted soft drinks
- Ice (if available)

Staying hydrated helps us deliver the best possible performance from start to finish.

Meals

Meals are never expected or required, but they are always sincerely appreciated, particularly during longer performances or events that take place over meal times. If food is available from the venue, we're grateful to be included—but please don't feel obligated.

Green Room / Changing Area

Whenever possible, we'd appreciate access to a private area where we can:

- Change into performance attire
- Warm up before the show
- Relax between sets
- Store personal belongings safely

A dedicated green room is wonderful, but any clean, private, secure room works perfectly.

Secure Storage

If a changing room isn't available, we kindly ask for a secure place where instrument cases, personal belongings, and valuables can be stored during the performance.

Parking & Load-In

Whenever possible, we appreciate convenient parking close to the performance area to make loading and unloading equipment as efficient as possible.

Reserved or staff parking is always appreciated when available.

Restroom Access

Please ensure performers have convenient access to restroom facilities before, during, and after the performance.

Breaks

For performances consisting of multiple sets, we typically take one 10-minute break between sets. We always do our best to return promptly and keep breaks as short as possible.

Occasionally, unforeseen circumstances—such as technical adjustments, equipment issues, weather conditions at outdoor events, or other unexpected situations—may require a few additional minutes. In these instances, breaks may extend to up to 15 minutes to ensure we can safely and professionally continue the performance.

We appreciate your understanding and will always communicate with the event organizer if any unexpected delays arise.

Tips

Whenever venue policy allows, we greatly appreciate the opportunity to place a tip jar or tip bucket near the stage.

While this is never expected or required, tips from guests help support the band and allow us to continue offering competitive pricing while investing in equipment, travel, and creating the best possible live entertainment experience.

If your venue has a no-tipping policy, we completely understand and are happy to respect your guidelines.

Communication

Clear communication is one of the biggest keys to a successful event.

Prior to the event, we kindly ask that a primary point of contact be designated for all booking details and event logistics. This allows us to prepare thoroughly and ensures everyone is on the same page.

On the day of the event, it is extremely helpful for us to know:

- Who is our on-site point of contact?
- Who should we speak with regarding any schedule changes or questions?
- Who will be handling payment at the conclusion of the performance?
- Who can assist us if any issues arise during the event?

Having one clear contact helps everything run smoothly for both the venue and the band.

Sound & Stage Crew

If your venue is providing sound engineers, lighting technicians, or stage crew, we greatly appreciate receiving their contact information in advance whenever possible.

Connecting before the event allows us to discuss technical requirements, stage setup, arrival times, and any venue-specific details ahead of time, helping ensure a smooth load-in, soundcheck, and performance.

Before the Event

Whenever possible, we appreciate receiving the following information before the performance:

- Performance address
- Load-in instructions
- Parking information
- Performance schedule and set times
- Venue contact information
- Sound and lighting details (if applicable)
- Technical contact information
- Event timeline
- Any announcements or special requests
- Dress code or event theme (if applicable)
- Indoor or outdoor performance details
- Expected audience size
- Payment method and who will be handling payment

The more information we have ahead of time, the better prepared we can be to provide a seamless, stress-free experience for everyone involved.

Merchandise (Optional)

If agreed upon in advance, we appreciate a small area to display merchandise or promotional materials. This gives guests the opportunity to support the band and helps us continue growing our audience.

Photography & Social Media

We love seeing photos and videos from your event! If possible, we'd be grateful if you could tag The Georgia Johnson Band on social media so we can share the memories with our audience as well.

Thank You

Thank you for choosing The Georgia Johnson Band. We genuinely appreciate every opportunity to perform and look forward to helping make your event a fantastic success.
